SLUDI Preregistration Service

Effective date	Document status
29 October 2026	Sample notice for preregistration

1. Purpose of this notice

This sample notice explains how SLUDI may collect, use, store, share, and protect personal information when you use the SLUDI preregistration service. It is provided as a draft for demonstration and should be reviewed and approved by the responsible organization before production use.

2. Information we may collect

During preregistration, we may collect the information needed to create and manage your application, including:

- Identity and contact details, such as your name, date of birth, address, telephone number, email address, and identification details.
- Application details, appointment preferences, uploaded supporting documents, and information you choose to provide in messages or forms.
- Technical and service information, such as device type, browser, IP address, timestamps, and service activity needed to secure and operate the portal.

3. Why we use your information

We may use your personal information to process preregistration requests; verify eligibility or identity where permitted; schedule appointments; contact you about your request; prevent fraud and protect service security; respond to enquiries; and meet legal, regulatory, audit, and record-keeping obligations.

4. Legal basis and consent

We process information only where a lawful basis applies, including consent where required, performance of a public task or service, compliance with legal obligations, or legitimate operational and security interests. Where we rely on consent, you may withdraw it at any time, subject to any lawful processing already completed and any retention obligations.

5. Sharing and international transfers

Access to your information is limited to authorized personnel and approved service providers who need it to operate the preregistration service. We may also disclose information where required by law, to protect rights or safety, or as directed by a competent authority. If information is transferred outside your country, appropriate safeguards will be applied where required.

6. Retention and security

We retain personal information only for as long as necessary for the purposes described above and for applicable legal or audit requirements. We use reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards designed to protect information from unauthorized access, loss, misuse, or alteration. No online service can guarantee absolute security.

7. Your rights and choices

Depending on applicable law, you may have rights to request access to, correction of, deletion of, restriction of, or objection to the processing of your personal information. You may also have the right to receive a portable copy of certain information and to lodge a complaint with the relevant data protection authority.

8. Children and sensitive information

If the service collects information relating to a child or sensitive personal information, SLUDI will handle it only as permitted by applicable law and the service process. Please do not provide information that is not requested for preregistration.

9. Contact us

For privacy questions or to exercise your rights, contact the SLUDI privacy team using the official contact details published with the preregistration service. Please include enough information for us to verify and respond to your request securely.

10. Changes to this notice

We may update this notice to reflect changes to the preregistration service, legal requirements, or privacy practices. The current version and effective date will be made available through the service.

This is a sample privacy notice and is not legal advice. Obtain review from qualified legal and privacy professionals before publishing it.
